Who We Are

For more than 100 years, ACP has represented the global house of internal medicine. Although we may practice in widely different settings, focus our expertise in a specific subspecialty, or take on different research or administrative activities, we are all internal medicine physicians. Our shared core training and values unite us.

We comprise 161,000 members worldwide including 23,000 internationally and are led by physicians who, like you, are lifelong practitioners and learners who strive to deliver excellent patient care and exemplify leadership in everything they do.

From medical school and residency to active practice and retirement, we are committed to helping one another succeed. We adapt quickly to the changing needs of the internal medicine landscape and offer a wide range of resources to support and enhance your professional experience.

ACP Fellowship

Achieving ACP Fellowship (FACPF) is a mark of distinction for internal medicine physicians. This peer-reviewed, peer-supported tradition recognizes your dedication to internal medicine, integrity as a physician, and achievements above and beyond the practice of medicine.

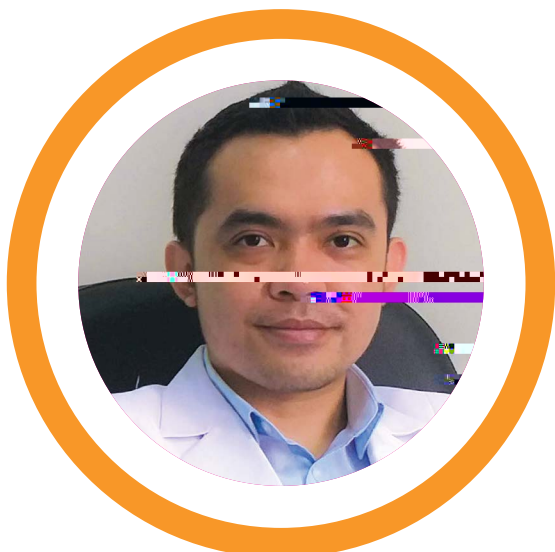

ACP membership stands out because its educational resources are continually updated; the virtual cases are one of a kind; it's affordable; and MKSAP is an amazing resource for residents, fellows, and newly licensed physicians."

—Amro M. Nagy, MD,
Nephrology Fellow, Canada

I joined ACP because I knew I would gain access to excellent guidance and educational resources that would be invaluable for my internist training. I am proud to be a member of such a diverse society."

—Andrea Anampa-Guzman,
ACP Medical Student, Peru

ACP provides lifelong learners with high-quality educational programs to keep current and earn both continuing medical education credits and maintenance of certification points."

—Darryl Tanod, MD, FACP, Indonesia
